Count Vinci to Leave Ethiopian Capital Without Awaiting Instructions from Rome — British Cabinet to Call Parliament Together on October 22nd— To Discuss Important War Moves

ADDIS ABABA, Oct. 9.—Formal breach of diplomatic relations between Italy and Ethiopia was scheduled for this afternoon when the Ethiopian government was to hand Count Luigi Vinci Gliugucci, Italian minister, his passport. The government decided upon the action after receiving a telegram from its delegation in Geneva advising there was no further advantage to be gained by postponing the breach in relations.

Count Vinci himself told International News Service he would leave the Ethiopian capital without awaiting instructions from Rome.

Further tightening of censorship regulations was announced today.

LONDON, England, Oct. 9.—Belgian officers today were appointed censors of all news filed out of Addis Ababa, according to a Reuter dispatch received here. No military news whatever will be permitted to be sent out, the dispatch stated.

LONDON, England, Oct. 9.—The British cabinet today decided to summon Parliament on October 22nd, a week earlier than usual, should events at Geneva necessitate such action. The cabinet met for more than two hours in an exhaustive study of the war situation, one of its main tasks being to approve action to be taken by Britain at the League of Nations assembly meeting in Geneva this afternoon.

The possibility of Britain's raising the arms embargo against Ethiopia, now that Italy formally has been declared the aggressor by the League Council, presumably, also was discussed.

LONDON, England, Oct. 9.—Two gigantic Ethiopian armies were being whipped into shape to stem the Italian advance on the north and southeastern frontiers, the Daily Telegraph reported from Addis Ababa. The Emperor, said the telegraph, is planning shortly to lead an army of 120,000 warriors to Dessye, 150 miles north of Addis Ababa. His son-in-law will command 250,000 men in Ogaden Province, adjoining the Somaliland.

GENEVA, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Ignoring Italy's status as an outlaw before the League of Nations, foreign undersecretary Fulvio Suvich today telegraphed to the League secretariat a crisp protest against Ethiopia's "invitation" expelling Count Vinci, Italian minister to Addis Ababa.

Italy's "rejection" of the reasons for Ethiopia's thus practically breaking off diplomatic relations—Ethiopia charged the Italian legation was a "center of espionage and a nest of intrigue"—came as representatives of 57 nations met to vote the League Assembly's approval of sanctions against Italy.

"I have the honor," wired Suvich, "to refer to the communication made to the League by the Ethiopian delegate, concerning the invitation of his government to the royal minister and staff of the Italian legation to leave Addis Ababa."

"The League is informed that the Italian government is obliged to reject most categorically, and protest against, the reasons put forward to justify such a decision."

League officials sidetracked the protest, leaving the way clear for the meeting, at 5 p. m. of the assembly, when 15 speakers, led by Capt. Anthony Eden of Britain and Premier Pierre Laval of France, will make known their views on punitive measures against Italy.

Length of the speeches may possibly prevent a vote tonight, but most authorities were agreed that unanimous endorsement of the council's decision that Italy was a violator of the League covenant and therefore liable to sanctions would be voted.

A meeting of the steering committee will be held one hour before the assembly opens its public session, making final arrangements for expediting the momentous meeting of the full body.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Heavy reinforcements of Ethiopians are being rushed to the Ogaden front, reported central news from Addis Ababa today.

Italian troops in that sector are said already to have advanced to a point half-way between the Italian Somaliland frontier and Jijica. Jijica is within striking distance of the Addis Ababa-Djibouti railway.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(INS)—Addis Ababa correspondents of several British newspapers today cabled that Ethiopian forces under Ras Seyum had recaptured Adigrat, which had been in Italian hands since late last week, on Monday.

(In Rome, International News Service was officially informed that the "rumor is absurd.")

O. D. Gallagher, Addis Ababa reporter for the London Daily Express, said that Adigrat was retaken after a surprise attack in the heat of the day, when the Italians were enjoying their siesta.

The fight was short, said the Express. The Abyssinians split up into groups, and attacked the Italians with the greatest stealth and secrecy.

A large number of Italians were taken prisoner, according to the account, but casualties were believed to be few.

Lion pits, deep holes covered with boughs and dirt, again proved effective in dealing with Italian tanks, the Express added, and six more of the mechanical fortresses fell into the pits and were put out of commission.

The London News Chronicle again carried reports today of Ethiopian "success" in invading Eritrea. The paper said forces dispatched by Ras Seyum were threatening Adi Urgi, a town twenty-five miles north of the Mareb River, which forms the Eritrean-Ethiopian frontier.

Caseys Are Guests of Honor at Banquet Served in K. of C. Home

WON LEAGUE TITLE

Words of congratulations and praise were bestowed upon the members of the Knights of Columbus baseball team last night as the players were the guests of the organization at a light supper served in the K. of C. home.

The Caseys captured the second-half and championship of the Bristol Twilight Baseball League after a rather dismal showing the first half. It was the first time the Knights of Columbus had entered a team in the Bristol circuit after a lapse of seven years.

Before the close of the evening, Frank Craven, chairman of the athletic committee of the association, announced that he had reappointed Eddie McDevitt as manager of the team for the 1936 season. McDevitt was lustily cheered, and when called upon, each player expressed a desire to be in next season's line-up for the Caseys.

Dave Landreth, president of the Bristol Twilight League, commented on the "squeeze" play which brought many wins to the Caseys. He explained why it is not used in the big leagues, as often as the smaller circuits use it. "In the larger loops, the 'squeeze' may be only used once in five or six weeks," stated Landreth.

REPLIES TO PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S LETTER

Another pastor has replied to President Roosevelt's letter and the reply is couched in no uncertain terms. The reply is made by the Rev. David De Forest Burrell, of the Williamsport First Presbyterian Church. It follows:

THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH
Williamsport, Pa.
David DeForest Burrell, Minister

September 27, 1935

President Franklin D. Roosevelt,
The White House,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. President:

Common courtesy demands a reply to a letter from the President; but I confess to a deep sense of regret that my reply to your letter can contain no suggestion of sympathy. I can give no help, for the reason that your policies and acts have been directly contrary to my deepest convictions.

The request for counsel and advice from the clergy of the nation comes three years late. Many of us recall the fact that at the beginning of your administration repeated requests were made of you that the nation be called to repentance and prayer before it should undertake to solve its problems. These requests came to you from many individuals and from many of the largest Christian denominations. It was the conviction of those who made them that the basic trouble of the body politic was due to a great moral and spiritual de-

MORRISVILLE IMPROVES MANY OF ITS STREETS

Work is Now Rapidly Nearing Completion Under Supervision of Boro' Engineer

PURCHASE SIGN POSTS

MORRISVILLE, Oct. 9.—Morrisville's 1935 street improvement program is rapidly nearing completion, under the supervision and management of Harry H. Lee, Jr., borough engineer. Never before in the history of the Borough has there been such a comprehensive program undertaken at so little cost to the municipality. Streets that have needed resurfacing for many years are now being taken care of to the gratification of residents living there.

More than 30,000 square yards of street will be improved by the borough this year when the program is complete. Already more than 20,000 square yards of surfacing has been placed and opened up to traffic. With the program going ahead at full speed the balance of the work will be accomplished by the middle of November. This will mean that on an average every home in the Borough has had 20 square yards of surfacing placed for it. The improvement includes 10,380 linear feet of street with 7,020 feet already completed.

In Chedester Manor, where the residents were without fire protection, store delivery service, and even without medical care as physicians refused to drive in there because of the deplorable condition of the roads, 5760 square yards of roadway was constructed which brought that section out of the mud. On Grandview and Barnsley avenues this work was carried on by constructing a 6-inch tile base with a two-inch top cinder surface. To bind the road an application of oil was spread.

Osborne avenue hill, extending from Pennsylvania avenue to Stockham avenue, which was badly in need of improvement because of the heavy washouts which made the road impassable after a heavy rain, was improved with penetration macadam. There was 1,000 square yards of paving in this block.

On Centre street and East Palmer street from Union street around to North Delmorr avenue, three-inch penetration macadam surface was constructed after the street was graded and thoroughly rolled.

On North Lafayette avenue from West Bridge street to Hillcrest avenue, Moreau street hill from South Delmorr avenue to Grove street, Chambers street, formerly Clymer, from Washington street to South Delmorr avenue, North Harding avenue from West Bridge street to Clymer avenue, East Franklin street from Pennsylvania avenue to Crown street, West Palmer street from Pennsylvania to Stockham avenue, East Palmer street from Pennsylvania avenue to Crown street have all been improved with a two-inch macadam surface.

Construction work is going on on East Hendrickson avenue where curb and gutter is being placed for the entire block and 1640 square yards of five inch base and the same number of square yards of two inch macadam surface will be placed immediately upon the completion of curb and gutter.

Grading work is under way on Woodland avenue, Chelton avenue and South Harding avenue in the Second Ward. These thoroughfares will be improved after the grading is done. Work is also started on Coleman avenue from West Philadelphia avenue to Robertson avenue and on East Philadelphia avenue, which was formerly Van Sant avenue, from Washington street to South Delmorr avenue. ## LATEST NEWS - - - Received by International News Service Leased Wires.

Unconfirmed War Reports

London, England, Oct. 9.—A mass of conflicting unconfirmable reports, from the front characterized the Italo-Ethiopian war, in dispatches received in London today. Evidence of the scarcity of first-hand war news was the fact that Floyd Gibbons, crack war reporter for International News Service has been unable to get any news to London headquarters from the Italian front since Sunday night. Official news from Rome was equally light. A communique issued today was based on yesterday's activities which the government said were slight.

News from Addis Ababa was severely censored but even before the censorship was imposed, the government had admitted it has only very poor communications with the various fronts. In the face of these facts, rumors and unverified reports flew thick and fast. London received them all in one form or another.

In view of an official Ethiopian claim that Ethiopian forces so far have been evacuating border cities it was apparent there has been no big conflict to date. All fighting has been confined to skirmishes with small towns of Ethiopia, according to Addis Ababa.

Following is a summary of the various reports reaching here today:

Heavy Ethiopian reinforcements are being rushed to the Azna front in southern Ethiopia to hold the Italian advance from the Italian Somaliland.

Ras Segum, Ethiopian commander of the Adowa, Adigrat sectors in the north, has recaptured Adigrat.

Conflicting Reports

London, England, Oct. 9.—Italian forces invading northern Ethiopia have practically surrounded the Ethiopian Holy City of Aksum, an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from the Italian front said today. (Editor's note: Yesterday the Exchange Telegraph correspondent with the Italians reported Aksum captured by the Italians, later he said the report was "premature" Rome reported the city taken and Addis Ababa said it was evacuated by the Ethiopians and "probably" was captured.)

Latest reports said the Exchange Telegraph, was the Italians are already encircling the city and thus have practically surrounded it.

Frightened By Air Raids

Addis Ababa, Oct. 9.—Continual air raid scares had the populace of the city of Harar in near panic. The population fled to the hills several times yesterday as it was flashed through the streets that the Italian bombing planes were about to lay waste to the city, which is a few miles south of the Addis Ababa Djibouti railway line.

Judge Orders A Number To Pay Wives A Weekly
Sum

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 9.—Filbert Fox, Clear Spring Mill loom fixer, who was given a hearing before Judge Calvin S. Boyer on a charge of non-support on Monday afternoon was ordered to pay $12 a week for the support of his wife and two daughters, beginning October 21. Fox was also directed to pay the costs of prosecution within two weeks.

Mrs. Katherine Fox, wife of the defendant, who is employed in a County Seat clothing factory, testified that she and her husband separated April 27, 1933. She maintains a home for her two daughters, Doris and Ethel, both of whom are in school.

Fox, in his own testimony, explained to the court that when he paid $10 and $12 a week he was working over time and received better wages than at present time. Questioned by Assistant District Attorney Edward G. Biester the defendant admitted that he had misrepresented his earnings at the time of the first hearing.

Judge Boyer stated to the defendant that he did not understand how any man could expect to have at least $18 a week for himself and expect his wife and children to share less than $8 a week.

Fred Knecht, Sellersville United States Gauge worker, charged with non-support and desertion, in a hearing before Judge Boyer on Monday, directed to pay the cost of prosecution and pay $5 per week until a further order of the court was made.

"The Court is satisfied that you were not anxious to live with your wife. You were very, very unwise, if you valued your home-life, to go with a woman whom your wife suspected," said Judge Boyer who reprimanded the defendant for not severing all relations with an alleged affinity.

Robert H. Grim, attorney for the defendant, made a motion for an arrest of judgment. The Court directed that the payment of the costs of prosecution be not made until the motion was disposed of.

Jacob Lines, Revere farmer, charged with non-support, was directed to pay the costs of prosecution and pay $2.50 toward the support of a son and daughter. The Court made no order for the support of the wife because the defendant is unemployed at the present time.

"Owing to the present lack of earnings, the Court will make no order for your wife. We do not believe that you are not strong enough to work. It is up to you to get out and get some work," Judge Boyer said.

Lines, charged with a serious crime, was acquitted by a jury in criminal court several weeks ago.

His wife, Reba Lines, who lives on Third street, Easton testified that her husband, when he became angry, beat her up, kicked her on the shins, called her names and spit tobacco juice on her and all over the furniture. Since June 4, it was alleged, he did not contribute to her support.

When she left him a few days later she with drew $471 from an Easton bank. Her husband testified that he withdrew about the same time.

Witnesses for Mrs. Lines included Mrs. Amelia Dean, Mrs. Frances White and Mrs. Bessie Kust, Easton housewives, all of whom were former neighbors of the defendant and his wife.

Lines, who is a laborer, in answer to the tobacco-spitting episode, stated that his wife came toward him and attempted to scratch him when his mouth was filled with tobacco juice. He denied that he ever upset the buffet drawers, but admitted to calling her names and striking her.

Because he owns two houses, former school houses which have been converted into domestic dwellings, the Court advised Mrs. Lines and the children to move from Easton into one of the houses to save the cost of renting a property.

Because he violated the promises of the Court and his support order, Charles Marshall, stone-deaf, of Jamison, was directed by Judge Boyer to pay $16 a month and give a bond of $500.

In default of the payment of the bond, the former native of Hungary, was committed to the County Prison.

The defendant, who resides in a chicken house, was so deaf that the hearing was carried on by his attorney, Stace B. McEntee, and Judge Boyer writing their questions on paper.

His wife, Helen Marshall, testified he was in the arrears $350. His source of income is the rent from several tenants, part of which he promised to turn over to his wife but refused to give her the required amount set by the Court's order.

Mrs. May Cummings, Lafayette street, passed the week-end with Mrs. Clarence Wharton, Morrisville.

BICYCLING DANGERS

The recurrence of the bicycle fad last summer has given hundreds of children a conveyance which they are using to get to and from school, in place of the school bus, the parental car, or shanks' mare. Thus a new traffic problem has arisen in some districts.

Motorists driving in the neighborhood of school buildings have need to be extra cautious these days. Not only are the streets likely to be in use by more or less heedless cyclists, but at any moment one of them is likely to dart from sidewalk to thoroughfare with only a casual glance to see if the way is clear.

Safety instruction in the schools may well emphasize the danger of careless cycling. The bicycle in traffic is not the safest vehicle; a momentary loss of balance may cause a spill, or a sudden attempt at recovery that may bring the rider into a car's path. Many a careful motorist finds himself reducing his speed to a crawl when a cyclist is before him, taking a wide sweep to avert a collision, and thereby himself running into peril of being struck by a car coming from the opposite direction.

Time was when cycling on the sidewalks was forbidden by ordinance, but that was in the days of the horse and buggy, when traffic was considerably less than it is today. Conditions have changed, and bicycle riding on the sidewalks is now safest for all concerned.

NEW YORKERS HONEST!

Detectives watched a man snoring on a bench in a New York subway station and arrested, one after another, seven pickpockets who tried to rob the sleeper. And so adept were the "dips" that not once did the intended victim show signs of awakening.

The incident contrasts with an honesty test staged by a New York newspaper a score or more years ago. A reporter was sent out with a big wallet containing a dollar and some valuable looking documents and a name and address. And though he spent several days trying to lose this property in all sorts of places, he invariably received it back with the contents intact.

At the time much was made of the proof that New Yorkers are honest.

"I pronounce you man and wife," the justice of the peace said with finality.

"I can't help it!" she gasped. Orange blossoms—Oh, oh!" "Sharlene! Sharlene!" He took her into his arms and pressed her close to him, not knowing what else to do. After an inert instant she jerked away.

"Oh, baby—I know what it is—look here!" He pulled a crumpled, wilted cluster of orange blossoms from his breast pocket. "I picked them from a tree in your garden while I was dodging reporters."

"Oh, Stuart!" She placed his handkerchief from his coat pocket and wiped her eyes. "What an idiot I am! Forgive me, dear."

"Supper!" shouted Lucien. "Come and get it!"

Stuart tossed the flowers to the ground. Sharlene, who was dabbing at her nose with her powder-puff, stooped swiftly to retrieve them.

"No, no, don't throw them away! I really feel married with these from my own garden." She thrust the faded blossoms under the diamond clasp at the V of her blouse. Stuart appreciated her gallantry. She seized his arm and marched with him into the hot, brilliantly lighted dining room.

"Here comes the bride!" she chanted. "Just note her—orange blossoms!"

"Richt over here, Sharlene!" shouted Lucien Morrow, pulling out the chair of honor with a flourish.

"Mrs. Stuart Pennington to you, sir," she reproved loftily, seating herself.

"Orange blossoms!" marveled Mrs. Standing. "Where did you get them?"

"Stuart wore 'em at the wedding," said Lucien.

"for the reason that the players know when to expect it and the pitcher and catcher are prepared."

Landreth's talk dwelt on the training of big league players and of the thankless jobs passed to the umpires, especially in small leagues where the arbiters are paid practically nothing for the abuse they receive.

"It is a great privilege and honor to be president of the Bristol Twilight League, and I will do all I can to see that the circuit is organized next season," were the closing remarks of the prexy of the local league.

Thomas Juno, secretary and treasurer of the league, congratulated the team, as did Warren Armstrong, grand knight of the Knights of Columbus organization, and Frank Craven, chairman of the athletic committee.

Paul Barrett, secretary of the Knights of Columbus, acted as toastmaster, and introduced each speaker in an efficient manner. Barrett, in a few words, expressed the desire to see the team banded together next year and also congratulated it on its success this year.

Those who enjoyed the repast were: Eddie McDevitt, Bud David, Michael Korkel, John Dougherty, Bobby Hagan, Charlie Ihrie, Jimmy Cooper, Ralph Stromp, Milt Jones, Paul Barrett, Frank Craven, Warren Armstrong, Happy Hovatter, Paul Moore, Joe McDevitt, Leonard Monaco, Bill Dougherty, Thomas Juno, John Whitaker, David Landreth and Ralph Cahall.

The menu consisted of: Mashed potatoes with gravy, peas, turkey, celery, rolls, pie and coffee.

are approximately 9,000 square yards of street to be completed before the cold weather sets in.

Resurfacing work has been included in the program this year and eight streets have received a coating of tar and stone chips. There has been 27,000 square yards of this resurfacing already done which includes Crown street from Trenton avenue to Palmer street, Union street from North Delmor avenue to Pennsylvania avenue, Moreau street from Pennsylvania avenue to Grove street, Wood street from Pennsylvania avenue to Washington street, Green street from Pennsylvania avenue to Washington street, East Philadelphia avenue from Pennsylvania avenue to Washington street, Washington street from Bridge street to East Philadelphia avenue, Harrison avenue from Pennsylvania to Coleman avenue.

In addition to this work the borough purchased approximately 20,000 gallons of light asphaltic oil which was applied to the various cinder and gravel streets in order to settle the dust.

Street name sign posts have been purchased and painted and will be installed upon the arrival of the street name signs which were ordered some time ago. This work was planned to be finished by Labor Day but due to the delay in the manufacture of the signs it will be two weeks before these signs will be erected. The main streets of the town will be marked at the intersections first and these include Bridge street within the confines of the borough and likewise North and South Pennsylvania will be also marked. For the first time in Morrisville Common Council has adopted a three-year program whereby each and every intersection in the borough will have a street name sign.

In order to accomplish all this street improvement work local labor was employed. Taxes and water rents were worked out and at this time the tax collector's 1934 duplicate is practically cleaned up. All water rents up to April 1935 have been collected. Of the $7,500 spent this year on streets, Morrisville labor received approximately 40 per cent of this amount or $3303.

Several figures enter into this program, the Borough Engineer states, which makes it possible to go on. Common Council through careful expenditures of monies and excellent management last year saved $10,000. This year there was included in the budget $19,000 for street repairs and constructions. Savings to the amount of $2500 have been effected by the borough doing their own work, using its own truck, buying the materials and having a salaried engineer in charge of the work at all times.

All bills have been paid to date and the Borough on September 30 had, according to the borough treasurer, $35,623.04 cash in the bank. Of this amount there was $7,692.47 in the general borough account with which the street department operates. There was $8,646.44 in the water works account, $3,304.95 in the fire tax account and $15,979.18 in the sinking fund account. The latter is used to pay the interest and principal on the bonded debt.

The borough finances are in excellent condition. Taxes have been coming in better this year and the borough will live within its budget as planned at the January meeting of this year. The borough to date has spent $7,500 on new streets and $4,500 more will be expended in order to live up to the budget. The remaining $7,000 was expended for resurfacing, repairing, drainage work and other repairs of a maintenance nature.

cline; and further, that—as some of our greatest Presidents have reminded us—we cannot solve our problems without the help of God. But these requests were brushed aside by you.

You called in as your counsellors a group of men of academic and theoretical training, some of whom were indifferent, others openly antagonistic, to the moral and spiritual principles which we of the clergy know to be fundamental to the life of the nation. You proceeded to dishonor your country by ordering that her word, pledged on every gold bond, should be broken. You went on to order the wanton destruction of live stock and other gifts of God in nature. In a crisis when all of the resources of the people, both financial and moral, needed conservation to the utmost, you were the chief agent in bringing about Repeal, thus costing us annually billions of dollars and immeasurable misery and heartache.

By pressure on a week-kneed Congress you took to your self powers not within your right to take, and compelled that same Congress to adopt legislation that was obviously unconstitutional. When the Supreme Court declared that some of this legislation was of that nature, you sneered at that Court and urged Congress to pass further radical laws without regard to their constitutionality.

You ignored the Bill of Rights and undertook to regiment our free people under arbitrary rule, apparently attempting to erect a dictatorial government and destroy our established commonwealth. You not only established the most extravagant dole system on earth, but permitted it to fall under the direction of men and women who have used it openly and shamelessly to build up your personal political machine. This they have done by the destruction of our Civil Service system, the displacement of many thousands of faithful public servants in favor of political heelers, and the establishment of many thousands of unnecessary offices. The net result has been the destruction of the morale of millions of formerly self-respecting workers who will never work again. In view of this, your Social Security and Works programs spell, to my mind, not security but disaster.

Believe me, Mr. President, the convictions I have here recorded are not mine alone, but are shared by the great mass of common folk whom I meet daily. These people share not only my convictions but my fears. Our prayer is that the nation may shortly have an Administration that honors the Constitution, respects our Christian moral standards, and fears God.

For these reasons I fear that I can be of no help to you.

Sincerely,

DAVID DE FOREST BURRELL.

DUSEK RETURNS TO THE ARENA MAT

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 9.—Ernie Dusek, of the Omaha grappling family, returns here, tonight, for mat competition after a rather lengthy absence. The Blond Tiger, as often Ernie is called, is as tough as they come. He always arouses the ire of the fans, but they like his style of work, even though it is unorthodox and very often strays away from the strictly legal routine.

Ernie is slated to take on Abe Coleman, sawed-off Hebrew drop-kicking star, in the feature two-fall out of three event, 90 minute time limit, at the Arena.

Coleman showed local fandom at the Fair Grounds and at the opening show, that he is a first-rate grappler. He fought a corking draw with Cliff Olson. He has a new hold, called the "Squirrel-kick" and he feels that even Ernie Dusek cannot stand up against it.

Coleman is appearing in the place of Bull Martin, who, in the parlance of the mat, "ran out of the match."

The 45-minute semi-windup between Fred "Rubberlegs" Grubbeir, freakish hook scissors expert, and handsome Ed Meske of Ohio will find two Trenton favorites in action. Cliff Olson tangles with George Lenihan, and Abe Kashey, Syrian Assassin, faces another favorite, Abe Goldberg.

The first bout will start at 8.30.

HIGH SCHOOL MAKES VERY POOR SHOWING

By Louis Tomlinson

Everyone enjoys a good meal while eating, but oftentimes the after-effects are not so good. Such is the case with the "Bunnies," who are in the second stage, seeming to be suffering from a bad case of "swelled head" from their victory over Doylestown on Friday. This was shown on the high school field yesterday afternoon when Coach "Shorty" Reimer's Bensalem eleven pushed the cocky Bunny around the lot in a practice scrimmage.

Where Bristol really showed little power was within scoring distance of Bensalem's goal line. At this point, as in the Doylestown game, they lacked that necessary punch to cross that last white line to score. The Bunnies seemed to think that they were so far ahead that they could sit on their haunches and wait for their enemy instead of being the offender.

The Bunnies seemed to be acting the part of the hare in the perseverance story of the tortoise winning a race with the hare because the hare was too sure of himself and upon getting a big lead laid down to sleep. When he awoke he discovered it was too late to do anything about it and the slow but patient tortoise had kept plugging and crossed the finish line in front to win the race. Bensalem overtook Bristol yesterday in just that way.

Each of Bristol's four squads saw action against the Blue and White eleven. Each of the four teams held the ball for seven downs, then kicked. This was repeated twice with each squad then each team played a ten minute scrimmage. In both cases Bensalem outplayed Bristol in all departments; but it was especially noticed in the punting and passing in which department the blue and white far exceeded the Cardinal and Gray eleven.

Bensalem's kicks were long and advantageous, while Bristol punts were short, that netted little yardage. In the aerial game Reimer's attack worked to perfection and seemed to complete them at will, showing the extreme weakness in the red and gray pass defense which necessitates its ironing out this week.

Another weak point brought out in this scrimmage was the defense of the forward line, also the blocking far below par of past clashes as shown by the breaking up of many Bristol plays by opposing linemen and backs. Still another condition to be stressed on is the continual fumbling of Cardinal and Gray backs. Finally there were the penalties, which were inflicted upon them time and again, putting them in several "bad spots" and also losing scoring chances through them.

The only two highlights for the locals were a sensational 90 yard run by Tony Orzi and a 50 yard runback of a punt by Tomlinson.

Was it any wonder, therefore, that Coach Dougherty was "in a tantrum" and "pulling his hair," with the poor showing of his proteges, besides all the mistakes that were made.

FOUR NEW PLAYERS REPORT FOR ST. ANN'S

Four new players reported to Coach "Bill" Dougherty of the St. Ann's team last night as he was preparing plays for his first major battle of the campaign with St. Cecilia as his opponent, Sunday afternoon, on St. Ann's field. Of the four newcomers, the most promising are: "Bob" McCurry and "Kenny" Dyer, both linemen. Curry can be used at any position in the line while Dyer will be used at center for the time being to take the place of the injured Bud Tunis.

The additional players brings the St. Ann's roster over the limit again and perhaps before the week is over, Coach Dougherty will again knife the squad.

SPORT SHOTS by Maxwell Gordon

We visited the stables of the Bristol Riding Club the other day. . . . What a busy place that is. . . and interesting, too. . . particularly if you love horseflesh in high quality. . . Right now everything is bustle-bustle because of the Horse Show to be held next Saturday and Sunday afternoons at the show grounds.

Grooms and handlers are working feverishly to have their charges in the best possible condition for the various events on the large two-day program. . . . Dr. E. J. Laing's two sterling performers, "Tim" and "White Boots" are ready to do their best for the honor of the stable, as is "My Pal," owned by Mrs. Ira Hurd.

"Cointreau," the nine-year-old bay mare of Dr. and Mrs. George Hussey, is another horse that should land in the prize class if condition means anything. . . . Tom Dorn's "Judge James," a beautiful brown gelding, looks as sleek as "Man o' War," while "Buddy," Frank Donnelly's veteran of many shows is rearin' to go. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Hanford will show their two jumpers, "Good Friday" and "Over There." These two animals should also win in their respective events if performance in other shows count for anything.

Dr. J. Fred Wagner has his black gelding, "Pompous," in great shape and should do well in the saddle class. . . . Marty Green is another member who will show his gelding in several classes.

There is another horse in the club stables that stands in its box with an exalted look in its eyes. . . restlessly pawing at the straw, waiting for the trainers to fix him up so that he will be all set for the Show. . . . This stately-looking animal has a look of disdain for his stable mates. . . for wasn't he a champion of champions in his class. . . hadn't he won the five-gaited championship. . . and hadn't he been in competition with the best all over the country?

"Beau Woolfe" is the name of this past champion, and is known to every horseman in all parts of the country in the five-gaited class. . . . He stands 16½ hands high and is eight years old, and jet black. . . the horse-lovers' conception of Black Beauty of fiction. . . Born in Fayetteville, Kentucky, amid all the luxuries of a first-class horse-breeding farm. . . he received during his early colt days probably better care than the average infant.

Herbert Woolfe, celebrated horse-trainer of Kansas City, purchased him and named him "Beau Woolfe," because of his beauty and fine manners. . . . In 1929, Mr. Fisher, one of the brothers of the famous Fisher Body Company, of Detroit, purchased him for a large amount. . . under his colors "Beau Woolfe" was shown in Lexington, Ky., and won the $2500.00 stake for junior five-gaited horses. . . the same week he won the $10,000.

stake in the gelding open division.

In 1931 he was shown in the Devon Horse Show and received an injury that almost terminated his career in the show ring. . . after recuperating on the farm in Kentucky, his beauty attracted the moving picture people who had him appear in the picture "Sporting Blood."

In 1932, a Mr. William J. Young, of Philadelphia, sportsman and horse fancier, purchased him to be ridden and shown by his granddaughter, Violet Jane Horter. . . . This combination won the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden and also won two consecutive years at Bryn Mawr. . . . You should look up this interesting animal when you are at the show.
